- Report is entitled: "Enterprise Network and Systems Management: An Update"
- By: Robert Francis Group
- Date of publication: July 24, 2002

“RFG believes IT executives should examine closely the claims of BMC Software, Inc., Computer Associates International, Inc. (CA), Hewlett-Packard Co. (HP), and IBM Corp.'s Tivoli to now provide comprehensive, business-centric enterprise network and systems management solutions. IT executives should also ensure that they and their enterprises are aware of strategic shifts among these market leaders, and of the potentially significant pluses and minuses of smaller vendors in this important market.”
